THREE FOR SILVER US

Three For Silver is a ragtag ensemble of rotating musicians led by Lucas Warford, whom NW legend Baby Gramps once called "the acid baby of Tom Waits and Les Claypool."

This aggressively original US band defies simple description.

PR folks often throw around terms like Mythic Americana, Doomfolk, or Apocalypso. Some of them are pretty good, but they feel like desperate attempts by someone forced to fill out a "Genre" box on a form.

Three For Silver features unique instruments you've likely never seen, blending styles you've never heard. Since 2013, their monomaniacal dedication has taken them all over the United States and across the world — from accordion festivals in Vienna to modern music showcases in Russia, even partnering with the U.S. State Department for ongoing cultural exchange tours to countries eager for truly original American music.
