PUMP FOILING LAKE BIEL

Foiling is a captivating water sport for those who want to combine body control, technique, and a sense of lightness. In pump foiling, the board lifts out of the water through rhythmic, controlled movements – no wind or waves required. If you prefer wind-powered motion, wing foiling lets you harness the breeze using a handheld wing – a dynamic and wind-driven form of flight above water.

Lake Biel offers perfect conditions for both disciplines: calm sections, clear visibility, and plenty of space – ideal for beginners and advanced riders alike.

With expert guidance and the right gear, movement enthusiasts can experience the unique sensation of floating – surrounded by the stunning scenery of lake and Alps. A silent adventure for individuals, friends, or active families.
