SWISS PHOTOMONTH: SCREENING

Photoforum Pasquart teams up with pool collective for an evening of screenings, discussion and informal exchange. The event showcases short video presentations by members of the collective as well as artist Ana Brankovic, whose solo exhibition Belonging is a Strange Feeling is currently on view at the Photoforum. Each video offers a personal insight into the artists' practices, highlighting long-term photographic projects and the motivations behind them.

The videos are produced especially for this event and developed through pool collective's trusted peer-feedback sessions. They reflect the group's commitment to experimentation, collaboration and slow, research-driven photography.

pool collective is a self-organized network of photographers dedicated to supporting each other's work through dialogue, reflection and public visibility. This event is part of the Swiss Photomonth.
