I FEEL LIKE A BOMBED CATHEDRAL (FR) - DAISY DICKINSON (UK)

A collision between sound and image at the limits of perception... This new audiovisual collaboration merges the spellbinding soundscapes of Amaury Cambuzat, founder of the cult French post-rock band Ulan Bator and guitarist with the legendary German band faUST, pioneers of krautrock, with the striking and immersive images of filmmaker and visual artist Daisy Dickinson. Under the name I Feel Like a Bombed Cathedral, Cambuzat builds dense, meditative layers of guitar, drone and noise that evoke both ruin and transcendence. Dickinson's fluid, textured and improvised analogue visuals are less an accompaniment than an invocation, fluid portals to unseen dimensions, transforming the space into shifting dreamlike realms, acting as both mirror and counterpoint to the sound.
