PLANKTON STUDIO: OBSERVING THE UNSEEN

«Plankton Studio: Observing the Unseen»
with Riikka Tauriainen & Marta Musso

As part of the exhibition «Waterscape Imaginaries» at Kunsthaus Biel Centre d'art Bienne, this transdisciplinary workshop invites participants to explore plankton through artistic and scientific lenses. Led by visual artist Riikka Tauriainen and marine biologist Marta Musso, the workshop offers hands-on activities and reflections on microbial aquatic life, ocean literacy, and ecological entanglement. Families and anyone interested in plankton and art-science dialogue are warmly welcome.

Who: People interested in ecology and ocean literacy, families and curious people of all ages are welcome.

Costs: Free of charge

Location: Library, 1st floor

Access: Recommended for families with children aged 6 and over. Held in spoken English with optional translation to basic German. Wheelchair-accessible space with adjustable lighting. During the workshop, visual activities will be carried out using microscopes and drawing materials, and ecological topics will be explored. The organisers hope to facilitate interactive exchange formats. Most of the work will be carried out at tables

An offer from the EcoArtLab at the HKB (BFH).

Registration required by 24 November 2025.
