10TH EDITION OF THE USINESONORE FESTIVAL

From May 30 to June 6, 2026, the Usinesonore Festival will celebrate its 10th edition! To whet your appetite, the entire Usinesonore team is delighted to unveil the first two performances of this anniversary edition under the theme of surprise: André Manoukian, who will present his show “Les notes qui s’aiment”, as well as the new creation “In bocca al lupo” by ShanjuLab, an immersive and interdisciplinary performance exploring the return of the wolf to our regions. Tickets for both evenings are now on sale. Festival passes are also available in limited numbers at a preferential rate.

Sunday, May 31, 6:00 PM

ShanjuLab – In bocca al lupo

“In bocca al lupo” is a theatrical and video creation about and around wolves—an immersive dive into the territories they share with others. On stage alongside Judith Zagury: video artist and journalist Séverine Chave, mediator Dariouch Ghavami, and the dogs Azad, Lupo, and Yova. A reflective and immersive experience where sound and image are at the heart of the performance.”

Thursday, June 4, 8:15 PM

André Manoukian – Les notes qui s’aiment

“Did you know that the first vinyl record was invented in an Egyptian pyramid? André Manoukian, alone at the piano, answers fundamental questions about music. He reveals the secrets of great composers and shows how to express emotions through music. Through his love life filled with muses, sirens, and disasters, he tells—with his delightfully eccentric erudition—a story of music like you have never heard before!”
