VOICE EXPLORATION AND GEORGIAN POLYPHONIC SINGING – A WORKSHOP WITH FRANK KANE

Frank Kane offers a unique approach to singing based on body awareness and cultivating vibration.

Using Georgian songs as a laboratory, this workshop is an opportunity to understand how we sing, both individually and together, and develop vocal resources that we have not yet tapped into. The focus is on feeling resonance inside your body and letting sound flow naturally.

No experience is needed. Everyone interested in exploring their voice is welcome.

When: February 19th-21st 2027; Friday 19.00-21.30; Saturday 10.00-18.00; Sudnay 10.00-17.00

Where: in Bienne/Biel, non-residential (Details to follow)

Language: the workshop will be held in English. Questions may also be asked in French, as Frank is fluent in both languages.

Price: 280 swiss fr early fee till December 15th 2026; 320 swiss fr regular fee; discount possible on request.

Frank Kane is an experienced teacher of voice and Georgian songs. He has been studying, teaching and singing Georgian songs for more than 30 years and has developed a distinctive approach using ancient Georgian chants as a medium of self-discovery and exploration; transforming the patterns that constrict the voice and leading us beyond the familiar.
