NATURAL SITES, LA THEURRE / SAIGNELÉGIER

ETANG DE LA GRUÈRE

The Etang de la Gruère nature reserve covers more than 120 hectares. The peat bog or upland moor extends over 56 hectares and has a nine-metre layer of peat accumulated over 12,000 years (after the end of the ice age). Most of the reserve lies within the territory of the town of Saignelégier but some of it also extends into the territory of the Jura towns of Bémont and Montfaucon, as well as Tramelan in the canton of Bern. It is classified as a marshland of national importance. In the 17th century, an artificial dam was built to operate a mill.

GOOD TO KNOW

- The loop around the pond is 2.8 km long and takes just under an hour to walk.
- Public transport access: Bus (B32) between Saignelégier and Tramelan, stops at "Saignelégier, La Theurre" or "Saignelégier, Moulin de Gruère".
- Car access: Two paid parking areas: North Parking (La Theurre sector) and South Parking (Scierie sector).
- The Centre Nature Les Cerlatez offers guided tours of the Etang de la Gruère
- Skating is permitted in winter but at visitors' own risk. The thickness of the ice is not monitored.

CONTACT

Centre Nature Les Cerlatez
2350 Saignelégier

+41 32 951 12 69
info@centre-cerlatez.ch
centre-cerlatez.ch

