PREHISTORIC JET WEAPON CHAMPIONSHIP

A prehistoric shooting championship!? But... Does that really exist ? Well yes, these very original competitions exist and they bring together nearly a thousand participants across Europe. The European championship was born at the end of the 80s and the Lakeside Village in Gletterens hosts one of the events each year. The framework and the theme are very appropriate!

But make no mistake, the competition is above all a gathering of people from very different backgrounds attracted by a common passion and by the great conviviality that gives these encounters a special charm.
