FUN & ADVENTURE, MAGGLINGEN

ELECTRONIC NETWORK STATIONS

Orienteering has been a long-standing tradition in Magglingen. The Federal Office of Sport (BASPO) has a permanent electronic orienteering control network, which offers significant benefits for training and education. The orienteering network consists of 48 controls, which form seven different routes.

GOOD TO KNOW

- The facility is accessible to all.
- 48 stations, equipped with an electronic unit and light strip (for those engaging in the sport at night).
- Seven diverse orienteering tracks for beginners to well-practised persons.
- The posts are located on the site of the Fospo and in the surrounding woods.
- Orienteering maps and an orienteering chip (for checking off control points) can be collected free of charge from reception in the main building during opening hours.
- Access: by car or with the Funi Magglingen.
