SIAMS

Located in the heart of the Jura Arc of technology, SIAMS brings together every two years key industrial players offering products and solutions in the field of microtechnology. Created to meet the concrete needs of precision-industry entrepreneurs, the exhibition has become an essential platform with nearly 450 specialized exhibitors. Since its inception in 1989, SIAMS has remained true to its core values: connecting the entire microtechnology production chain, fostering proximity, human contact, and industrial pragmatism—qualities that have defined it from the very beginning. After 18 editions, the fair has established itself as a prime venue for synergies and exchange among exhibitors. Today, the entire microtechnology ecosystem is represented, making SIAMS a unique reference in its field.
