DAFFODIL FIELD ON THE RIDGES

Every spring, thousands of daffodils explode in bright yellow colours on the meadows between Vue des Alpes and Tête de Ran. A stunning and ephemeral spectacle to be admired and respected so that the phenomenon can last.

GOOD TO KNOW

- Period: usually between end of March and end of April
- The daffodils are best admired on-site; to preserve the spectacle, we recommend that you don't pick any flowers. However, it is permitted to cut them for one hand-held bunch per person (pulling out the bulbs/roots is forbidden)
- Every year the blossoming daffodils attract many visitors. Below are a few rules to follow so that everyone can enjoy the experience in the future:
- Use the official car parks
- Stay on the signposted trails (to avoid trampling rare plants or disturbing birds nesting on the ground)
- Close the fences
- Don't leave any garbage
